NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Executives of all the leading steel companies issued a statement after a meeting tonight saying the industry
intends "to resist all attacks" upon company unions, and holding that the present plan of employee representation complies with the NRA.

The statement, issued after a meeting at the offices of the American Iron and Steel Institute, took exception
to the national labor board's authority to conduct elections for employee representatives when a "substantial" number request that action.

It represented the industry's first pronouncement on the latest policy of the NRA and the first definition
of the companies' position regarding the unions.

The industry's statement followed
President Roosevelt's executive order
of yesterday specifically empowering
the labor board to determine whether
the position taken by the Weirton
Steel Company, the E. G. Budd Manufacturing Company and other corporations which have challenged the
board's authority to step into their
plants.

This authority is not challenged directly by the steel companies, but
the statement takes the position that
an election conducted by the labor
board at the request of "a substantial
number" of employees would violate Section 7-A of the NRA on the ground that the
representatives would not be chosen by a majority of the workers in the plant.
The position is taken that the present
plan of company unions more nearly represents the wishes of the majority.

Text of Statement.

The text of the statement follows:

The steel industry of the United States is cooperating wholeheartedly with the president in his efforts for national recovery and subscribes fully to the principle of collective bargaining, as provided in Section 7-A of the national industrial recovery act.

employee representation plans are in

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP)— Changes within the naval high command both at sea and on shore to be effective late in the spring were announced today by Henry L. Roosevelt, acting secretary of the navy.

One of the chief changes being made
is being in accordance with the navy's policy of rotating fleet commands annually. They are usually an- nounced at this time of the year.

Most important of the changes was the designation of Admiral J. M.
Reeves, commander, battle force, to be fleet commander-in-chief, relieved by Admiral David F. Sellers, who will become superintendent of the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Naval authorities pointed out that appointment of Admiral Reeves put an aviation expert in the post of commander-in-chief for the first time.

Admiral Reeves is a qualified naval observer and a former commander of the aircraft squadron of the battle fleet.

The present superintendent, Rear Admiral Thomas C. Hart, after the close of the present command, is to be named commander of the naval division, to be formed with new cruisers coming into commission shortly.

Vice Admiral Frank H. Brumby, of Athens, Ga., now commander of the scouting force, will succeed Reeves as battle force commander. Brumby will be succeeded by Rear Admiral Edward
J. King, Jr., the commandant of the thirteenth naval district,
who assumes the rank of vice admiral.

Other changes include:

Rear Admiral T. T. Craven, to be commander, battleships, battle
force, with the rank of vice admiral,
will be succeeded by Rear Admiral Walton R.
Sexton, to become a member of the naval general board.

Rear Admiral Clarence S. Kempp, commandant of the Portsmouth (N.H.) navy yard, to succeed Admiral Craven as commander of battleship division, will be succeeded by

A formal threat by Commissioner
G. C. Adams to "put you out" if he came again to the office of the department of agriculture was promptly and personally defied Tuesday by

Dr. J. M. Sutton, a

newly appointed state veterinarian.

In the face of the letter from the commissioner, the ousted state veterinarian visited the agriculture office, conferred at some length with Adams, and promised him "a chance to prove" charges in the commissioner's communication which he told Adams were "a deliberate, malicious falsehood."

A few hours before the visit to the capitol, Dr. Sutton had obtained from Judge James C. Davis of the Stone Mountain circuit, an order for the commissioner to appear Decatur at 10 a.m. Feb. 5.

The steel executives' statement is the first major pronouncement by the industry as a whole behind
the position taken by the Weirton
Steel Company, the E. G. Budd Manufacturing Company and other corporations which have challenged the
board's authority to step into their
plants.

This authority is not challenged directly by the steel companies, but
the statement takes the position that

board at the request of "a substantial
number" of employees would violate
Section 7-A of the NRA on the ground that the
representatives would not be chosen by a

LAST SERVICES HELD FOR OSCAR PALMOUR

Insurance Man and Civic Leader Laid To Rest at College Park.

The funeral of Oscar Palmour, 59, widely known insurance man and civic leader, who died Thursday at a private hospital after a lengthy illness, was held Friday afternoon at the College Park Methodist church, of which he was an active member. The Rev. W. S. Robinson and Dr. William S. Sentell officiated and interment was in the College Park cemetery, with H. M. Patterson & Son in charge.

Honorary escort from the Atlanta alumni chapter of the Sigma Nu fraternity, of which Mr. Palmour was past national regent, and members of faculty and student body of the Evesing School of Commerce of the University System, where Mr. Palmour conducted a class on insurance, attended the services. Mr. Palmour was associated general agent of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company.

A native of Dougherty, Ga., Mr. Palmour had resided in College Park for 30 years. For a number of years he had been superintendent of the Sunday school of the College Park Methodist church. He was a member of several fraternal organizations and civic groups and had served as vice-chairman of the state democratic committee.

Mr. Palmour is survived by his wife and three children, two daughters and a son.

ANOTHER TIRADE.

Please excuse me, ladies and gentlemen. I worry you too frequently with objections to this and that. But there are some things in the way of nature faking that simply should not be allowed. The camera doesn't lie, says the photographer. It may not itself, but in the hands of a clever artist, pictures can be made to lie. Beautifully, perhaps convincingly, these lies are put before the public in a fashion designed to reflect credit on the photographer.

There are several nature books on the market now that contain the most beautiful pictures of animals that have been faked. There is one of a timber wolf, for example, in great detail showing against a snow background. There was something strangely familiar about this picture the first time I saw it. It began to bother me considerably. I looked it up and found it in an animal book I had a child while the author had exactly the same, even to the wind-blown fur, but my picture showed the wolf surrounded by a high metal fence. Returning to the second picture for a careful examination, I found that the retouch was not so perfectly painted in the snowy wilderness to give the impression of a real wild wolf, caught by clever photography.

Then I examined other pictures. Many of them are obvious fakes. Pine needles that look good on casual examination resolve into brush marks under the magnifying glass. Snow becomes rocks in nature books before you buy them. Be sure they are not retouched. If a naturalist, so-called, falls so low in his powers of study and observations that he has to color his work in this fashion, he should be fired for it. Some fakes and misconceptions are bad enough, but I know no name low enough for the man who will voluntarily misrepresent the facts. Tell the truth. Plain, unvarnished facts are much more interesting.

I cannot pass such faking by. I shall not name the book, but I want all our young to look carefully at the illustrations in nature books before you buy them. Be sure they are not retouched. If a naturalist, so-called, falls so low in his powers of study and observations that he has to color his work in this fashion, he should be fired for it. Some fakes and misconceptions are bad enough, but I know no name low enough for the man who will voluntarily misrepresent the facts. Tell the truth. Plain, unvarnished facts are much more interesting.

Stone Mountain Man's Burned Body Is Found

The body of Walter Bryant, 55, of Stone Mountain, who had been missing from his home since Tuesday, was found inside a pile of ashes alongside the Mountain highway near the mountain, at about 10 o'clock Friday morning.

Coroner John Thomas of DeKalb county, held that death resulted from burns and exposure.

Bryant is survived by his wife and four children. The body was taken to a Stone Mountain mortuary established by his wife.

J. W. Wood and Lonnie Causer, who were hauling stone, came across the body. They reported that Bryant apparently had built the fire and had fallen in the flames.

OPPOSITION IS VOICED TO NEW MOTOR LINES

Railroads, Existing Truck Service Attack Petitions at Commission Hearing.

Proposals to establish new passenger and truck service from Atlanta to several Georgia cities in competition with existing motor lines and other forms of transportation were given hearings Friday before the Georgia public service commission on a calendar which will be taken up again Saturday.

Among the hardest fought cases was that of the Atlantic Greyhound Lines, seeking to establish passenger service between Atlanta and Augusta via Stone Mountain, Loganville, Monroe, Athens, Washington and Thomson. E. Smythe Gambrell, appearing for the petitioner, was opposed by H. E. Bolding & Heyman, and Hamilton McWhorter, representing the Georgia Motor Lines and Southeastern Stages, W. H. Smith, representative of the Georgia Railroads, and J. E. Webb representing the Bass Bus Lines.

Other petitions heard included that of the E. H. Pace Bus Line to establish passenger service between Atlanta and Milledgeville via Conyers and Monticello. The mayor and city council of Columbus, through Ed Whalen, attorney for the Georgia Highway Express Company, opposed a petition for truck service by the AAA Highway Express, Inc., from Atlanta to Columbus.

The AAA Highway Express also is seeking a permit to operate from Atlanta to Augusta.

The petition of the Georgia Rapid Express, of Savannah, to haul property between Savannah and Atlanta via Madison, was heard, with railroads voicing objections.

Georgia Motor Express, Inc., is seeking a permit to operate between Atlanta and the Georgia-Alabama line via Atlanta, and to operate between Gainesville and Thomasville via Atlanta.

The petitions will be studied by the commission and decisions rendered later.

5 Men Badly Hurt In Fall at Austell

Five men were injured, one seriously, Friday morning when the scaffold on which they were working on the Community house at Clark Thread Company in Austell gave way and plunged them more than 40 feet to the ground.

Four of the men, Walt Campbell, 28, of Austell; B. H. Bishop, 32, of Marietta; L. C. Kurr, 32, of Austell, and Homer Davis, 45, also of Austell, were brought to the Georgia Baptist Hospital, where they were admitted, after receiving first aid treatment. The fifth man, named Barker, was treated by an Austell physician.

Kurr, the most seriously hurt, has a fractured vertebrae and severe cuts and bruises, physicians at the hospital said. Bishop received a fracture of the leg, and Campbell and Davis were both bruised. All were suffering from shock. Barker had only slight injuries and was allowed to return to his home at Temple, Ga., after treatment.

The scaffolding on which the five were standing was insecure and gave without warning, when the workers were placing rafters on the new chimney which is being erected by the thread company. They fell to the ground, several landing on sleepers of the unfinished flooring.

MANUFACTURERS HIT PURE FOOD, DRUG BILL

Measure Called 'Bureaucrat'ic' and Threatening To Life of Business Involved.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(P)—Organized opposition by members of the food, drug and cosmetic industries was given voice today against the so-called "Pure and Copeland pure food and drug bill" now pending in the United States Senate.

Formation of a committee of leading manufacturers, said to represent the industries, was announced at a luncheon at which the proposed legislation was called "hasty," "bureaucrat"ic" and threatening to the life of the businesses involved.

The group, termed the joint committee for sound and democratic consumer legislation, made the following accusations against the bill:

1. Restrictions on advertising.
2. "Bureaucratic control" by factories.
3. Seizure of goods without appeal.
4. Assumption of both legislative and judicial powers.
5. Too limited provisions for standardization and classification of products.
6. Unwarranted efforts to declare an emergency when none exists.

Silence Dashes Hopes For Bremer's Safety

ST. PAUL, Feb. 2.—(P)—Silence, unbroken for 17 days, reared a wall of suspicion around the disappearance of Emily Smith, a solitary old woman who was last seen in Paddington on the upper reaches of the Thames river, left a will revealing today an estate of more than $250,000.

It all started from pennies. She was the daughter of a veteran of the Crimean War, was in charge of the garden maze at Hampton Court Palace, and the privilege of charging for admission.

The charge was a penny, and persons from London and the world over thronged the palace every summer for the thrill of trying to find their way out of half a mile of the strange, labyrinthian passages formed by hedges planted in the days of Charles I.

The last 10 years the government has taken over the maze—and likewise the pennies.

Contact for payment of the ransom has not been established, the family said as the prolonged delay provoked renewals of question over whether the 77-year-old owner and president of the Commercial State Bank might have been slain.

His blood-stained automobile was found a few hours after the abduction.

An official examination by doctors was set for tomorrow to determine whether she is sufficiently well to carry out a government order that he be expelled. His residence permit expired January 31, and Insull pleaded that he was too ill to travel.

Leeland Morris, the American consul general informed the Greek foreign office today that Insull's American passport, which previously had been voided, was now valid.

Two Athens University professors will visit Insull tomorrow noon on behalf of the Greek government.

Bids on New City Jail Opened by Committee

Bids for Atlanta's new police station, due Friday, showed that the entire work can be done for approximately $40,000 less than the $342,000 estimate.

The special police station committee of council, headed by Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, will meet Monday morning after Burt & Stevens architects, completed tabulation of bids to recommend awards, which will go to council at Monday afternoon's session.

On the face of the bids, the entire project will cost $302,600, but tabulations may show even a greater saving.

Following are the bids for general construction: Pittman Construction Company, $261,275; A. K. Adams Construction Company, $261,000; Southern Ferro Contracting Company, $278,400.

Elevator equipment bids: Decatur Iron Works, Decatur, Ga., $40,000; Manley Jail Works,

Dalton, Ga., $36,986; Manley Jail Works,

Kitchen equipment: Wright Company, Atlanta, $3,300; Hotel & Restaurant Supply Co., $3,305.

The group, the lowest bids are shown in each bracket.

Insull To Undergo Examination Today

ATHENS, Feb. 2.—(P)—Speculation continues here that the American yacht off near-by Piraeus harbor might have a connection with possible plans Samuel Insull has for leaving Greece was set at rest tonight when the yacht weighed anchor and departed.

The 74-year-old former millionaire, who now returns to the United States, sought in connection with the failure of the Insull utilities concerns, remained in his Athens apartment to night.

An official examination by doctors was set for tomorrow to determine whether she is sufficiently well to carry out a government order that he be expelled. His residence permit expired January 31, and Insull pleaded that he was too ill to travel.

Leeland Morris, the American consul general informed the Greek foreign office today that Insull's American passport, which previously had been voided, was now valid.

Two Athens University professors will visit Insull tomorrow noon on behalf of the Greek government.

W. A. JONES QUALIFIES FOR COMMISSION RACE

W. A. (Bill) Jones, building manager, Friday qualified as the sixth official entrant in the primary March 7 to nominate three county commissioners and instead the only three concerned were all three.

Edwin F. Johnson and Thomas Croon Partridge previously had qualified for the same position, that of the country representative on the board.

Others qualified for the other two positions are Dr. Charles R. Adams, Mrs. Alice McCay, Quincy O. Arnold and Joe W. Ray. The two highest vote-getters of the field will win these two posts.

Dr. A. C. Ayers and O. G. Pope, president and secretary, respectively, of the Adams for Commissioners Clubs of Fulton county, Friday issued a statement urging voters to support Adams.

Entry lists for the primary close at noon Monday, and registration lists close at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Hewitt Chambers, secretary of the Fulton county democratic committee, said Friday he expects several other qualifications today.

DE OVIES RECOVERING, TO RETURN NEXT WEEK

The Rev. Raimundo de Ovies, dean of St. Philip's cathedral, is recovering in Florida from an attack of influenza and will return to Atlanta some time next week. Dean de Ovies was taken ill during the Christmas vacation and his physician advised a trip to Florida, Bishop H. J. Mikell said Friday.

The dean recently wrote an article on sociology called "The Church and Family Relations," which is being published in the Spirit of Missions, the magazine of the National Council of Protestant Episcopal Church of America. The selection of Dean de Ovies to contribute this article was a distinct honor and it appears as one of a series written by distinguished persons.

SEARCH IS LAUNCHED FOR DAVID'S RELATIVES

Efforts were made Friday to communicate with relatives of R. T. Davison, 53, of 1000 Piedmont Avenue, formerly an Atlanta policeman, who died unexpectedly at his residence Thursday. He had been employed recently at the Exposition Cotton Mills.

Brandon-Bond-Condron Company, to whose offices the body was taken, was informed that a brother of Mr. Davison, C. C. Davison, 30, of Cobb county, Ga., had played professional baseball last year in South Carolina. Mr. Davison was a member of the Atlanta police department from 1910 to 1912.

BODY OF H. C. ELDER TAKEN TO ALABAMA

The body of H. C. (Jockey) Elder, who was shot to death Tuesday night in his apartment at 1006 Piedmont Avenue, N. E., was taken Friday by Harry G. Poole to Selma, Ala., for funeral services and interment.

Police are holding Harold Fulcher, alias P. P. Clay, charged with firing the fatal shot, and Byron Shaw, of 393 Seventh street, and Charles Leahy, of 450 Boulevard, S. E., in connection with the murder. Detectives are gathering evidence and the case will probably come before the grand jury Tuesday.

POLICE BOARD STUDIES PLAN TO ADD POWER

The 1934 police committee of council Friday was considering a resolution laid temporarily on the table early Friday morning and designed to empower the entire police committee to pass on the shifting of any superior officer, the decision of any superior officer, proposed by Councilman George B. Lyle, was delayed Friday morning because of the lateness of the hour, and to enable members to consider it more carefully. Lyle denied it was any effort to "hamstring" Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant.

Whitey Walker, Dolores Walker and Ray A. Johnson, captured here, were turned over to Sheriff J. L. Boyd, of Parsons, Texas, who left immediately by automobile to return them to face charges of armed robbery of a bank—an offense the sheriff said is punishable by death in that state.

Irvine (Blackie) Thompson, held in Miami, and Homer Arthur, held here, were turned over to Oklahoma authorities as they waived extradition.

JUDGE HUGHES' SISTER FOLLOWS HIM IN DEATH

Mrs. John Dyer, of St. Louis, Widely Known Here, Dies of Shock.

A few hours before the funeral of her brother, Judge Henry Hughes, 70, who died Thursday, Mrs. John Dyer, 62, of St. Louis, Mo., collapsed and died at her home Friday. Judge Hughes and Mrs. Dyer were brother and sister of the late Mrs. Jack J. Spalding, wife of the prominent Atlanta attorney, and both were well known in Atlanta.

Judge Hughes, distinguished jurist, died unexpectedly Thursday at his home in Paducah, Ky., and his funeral was held at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Kentuky city. Since over his brother's death caused the death of Mrs. Dyer at 12:30 o'clock Friday.

Their niece, Mrs. William Schreder, of Atlanta, went to Paducah Thursday to attend the funeral of Judge Hughes and will go to Paducah to St. Louis to attend the service for her aunt Monday. Mrs. Elizabeth Hughes Spalding, died in December of 1928.

The Hughes family were pioneers of the town of Morganfield, Ky., and Judge Hughes and Mrs. Dyer were born there, being childhood friends. Judge Hughes and Mrs. Dyer were last in Atlanta to attend the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Spalding a number of years ago.

MISSISSIPPI SENATE UPHOLDS SALES TAX

House Passes Bill To Insure Relief for Property Tax Payers.

By the Associated Press.
Taxes and whisky formed the major topics before the Mississippi and South Carolina legislatures yesterday. Relief for property tax payers was offered by the Mississippi legislature through passage of a homestead tax reduction bill and the 2 per cent sales tax was given new life by a 30-to-15 vote in the senate to re-instate the measure.

The homestead bill would permit an individual who owns 40 acres of land assessed for as much as $1,000 to obtain a flat reduction of $50 in his tax bill. It was expected the bill would reduce the state's revenue by $1,600,000.

After placing into the clause which permitted $1,200 exemption, previously eliminated, the senate voted to reinstate the 2 per cent sales tax proposal.

The upper house gave cautious approval to a plan for state assumption of $57,000,000 in county road bonds and maintenance of all public roads and schools, and voted also to reconsider the Gregory automobile bill reducing the automobile tax to $2, $3 and $5, according to weight, while the lower house, which had referred a newly introduced bill authorizing the proposed $10,000,000 PWA loan and grant for road construction to the highways and highway financing committee for preliminary consideration.

The Mississippi house defeated a constitutional amendment referendum proposal which had been passed by the senate, but administration leaders were successful in getting it reset for special order next Wednesday.

Acting quickly, the South Carolina senate, by a vote of 60 to 15, killed the tobacco, beer, dry bill which proposed an iron-clad six-month prison sentence for possession of any quantity of liquor.

The house voted concurrence in another prohibition measure which prohibits publication of the names of drunken drivers. The senate already had rejected the bill which awaits only the signature of Governor Blackwood to become law.

In Virginia, a compromise passenger automobile license tax reduction measure lopping $1,793,000 off the motor-tax bill was unanimously reported out of the house of delegates committee.

Texas legislators moved to commemorate the service of John N. Garner, vice president of the United States, who started his legislative career in the Texas house. The house appropriated $500 for a portrait of Garner to be placed in the rotunda of the state capitol.

Ruth Dean To Testify In Defense of Self

GREENWOOD, Miss., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Counsel for Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean, Greenwood woman physician, announced late today that Dr. Dean would take the stand in her murder trial to deny that she was responsible for the death last August 6 of Dr. John Prather Kennedy, a greenwood surgeon, who is alleged to have charged on his death bed that Dr. Dean served him poison in a drink of whisky.

Dr. Dean, 33-year-old child specialist, formerly associated in practice with Dr. Kennedy, has maintained until now that she was innocent of the crime, but she was indicted for murder in connection with the agonized death of Dr. Kennedy in a Jackson hospital and during the entire time she has been at liberty under bond.

"You'll hear all about it when Dr. Dean takes the stand," said Dick Denman of the Greenwood daily, when asked about defense plans today.

One juror, the twelfth, was still to be selected when court was adjourned late today until tomorrow morning by Judge S. F. Davis, circuit judge, presiding.

Today Will Be Balmier, Despite Mr. Groundhog

Friday on the whole was a pleasant day, but the groundhog saw his shadow and retreated in the traditional species. This means, if one is superstitious about such things, that winter will last at least six weeks longer.

Today promises to be warmer, the weather bureau reported, with a temperature range of 35 to 60 degrees. There is no indication, however, that the weather is not immediate indication of change and it is probable that Sunday also will bring the changes which he wished to examine and which object.

The grand jury today stood recessed until Monday. It had examined more than a dozen witnesses. Farrar said, and found nothing to indicate that Johnson had been guilty of attempting to attack a young white woman a week or more ago.

FIRST LADY TO SPEAK AT DUKE UNIVERSITY

HIGH POINT, N. C., Feb. 2.—(AP)—T. A. Sykes, field secretary of the Duke Institute of International Relations, today said Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has accepted an invitation to speak at the university's annual dinner in October 11-12. The dinner is to be held at the grand jury rooms of the city hall, where he wished to examine and which object.

TWO MEN KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

RICHWOOD, W. Va., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Dr. George H. Liebel, prominent Cincinnati businessman, and a former associate, Edward B. Taylor, of Chicago, were killed today in an airplane crash five miles northeast of here.

The two apparently had become lost in the snow storm which has swept this area for 12 hours and ran out of gasoline. They were en route to a Charles street private garage today.

The messages, said to have been written to his parents and a girl friend, were not immediately made public by investigating officials.

NEGRO PAYS WITH LIFE IN MISSISSIPPI SLAYING

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 2.—(AP)—One negro was executed in Mississippi today, but an appeal to the supreme court stayed the scheduled hanging of a second one.

Thurman Ricks was sent to his death at the end of a rope in the Negro county jail at Philadelphia for the murder of Noah Sowell, white itinerant trader.

At Charleston, Eugene Prine had been sentenced to hang today for the murder of another negro but defense attorneys took an appeal to the state supreme court, automatically staying the lower court's sentence.

COMMUNISTS EXPEL 195,474 MEMBERS IN '33

MOSCOW, Feb. 2.—(AP)—In the nation-wide "cleaning" of the ranks of the communist party during 1933, 195,474 members and candidates, or 17 per cent of those examined, were expelled, the soviet all-unions party congress was told today.

E. Rudnitskay, head of the central committee of the party, said in addition to those expelled, 68,000 were demoted to the status of candidate—composing 6 per cent of the 1,149,550 examined thus far.

Members and candidates total 2,807,786, which means, if the same ratio of expulsions is applied to the whole roster, almost half a million followings will be put out of the party.

SENATE TO PROBE GAS PRICE RISE

Borah Resolution Also Seeks Inquiry Into Steel "Price Fixing."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP)—A critical examination to determine if monopolistic tendencies are evidenced by the codes of the steel and oil industries was ordered today by the senate.

The inquiry, to be made by the trade commission, will dig into the price practices of the two industries.

The resolution, by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, was particularly directed at the steel industry, the basing point price methods of which have been vigorously criticized by the commission in a private memorandum to the president.

It asked the commission to investigate possible collusive practices and the extent of and reason for price gains under the recovery administration codes.

Gas Price Under Fire.

The investigation into oil prices was ordered to ascertain the cause of the effect of increases in gasoline prices, which have moved up substantially since the oil code became effective.

Another resolution was presented to the senate today calling for an inquiry into the trouble of the milk industry.

Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, said he had no fault to find with the senate's plan to study the steel and oil codes.

"If they want to do it that way, it's all right with me," he said.

Johnson said this code authority had no act of the steel code authority that was specifically approved by NRA and that any of its acts might be nullified by NRA's veto.

comment, but their secret memorandum which was prepared several weeks ago found considerable fault with the steel industry's price practices. That memorandum expressed substantial doubt as to the legality of the basing point system on the contention that it tended to be monopolistic.

The basing point price system in the steel industry provides that prices

are set for certain products at certain

points of production and that the price

to the buyer still shall be the price

at the basing point regardless of the distance of delivery.

UNIVERSITY COSTS CUT DURING 1933

Economy Shown in Spalding's Report; $1,500,000 Appropriation Asked.

Georgia's state appropriation to the university system should never be less than $1,500,000 a year, and the fiscal affairs should, if possible, be arranged that when the general assembly makes an appropriation it should be paid in full, Hughes Spalding, chairman of the board of regents of the University System of Georgia, recommended in the annual report of the board for 1933 to Governor Eugene Talmadge, made public Friday.

Chairman Spalding reported that the state institutions of higher learning were operated for the last six months of 1933 on $262,000 less than was received from the state, the corresponding period in 1932 and for $456,000 less than was received for the corresponding period in 1931.

"Permit me to call your attention to the fact that there is such a thing as reaching a point in finance below which you can't efficiently operate these state institutions," Chairman Spalding informed the governor. "We have now arrived at that point. All funds received from all sources must be utilized, practically without exception, to pay current bills and salaries."

CWA projects announced Friday are as follows:

New Road to Savannah Will Be Started Soon

Construction work on the final link in an all-weather pavement road from Atlanta to Savannah via Conyers, Madison, Eatonton and Milledgeville, probably will get under way next week, M. E. Cox, state highway engineer, said yesterday.

Awarded several weeks ago, the contract for the 16 miles of unpaved road between Madison and Eatonton is now in shape for execution, the contractor, the Campbell Construction Company, of Columbus, having posted the necessary bond and arranged to begin the work, Cox said.

The work is expected to require five months. The contract involves $180,000, and the completion of the road will provide two routes between Atlanta and Savannah, the other route being via Macon, Gray and Milledgeville.

The Madison-Eatonton route is 23 miles shorter to Savannah than the Macon route.

Preparations for placing men on the job have been under way for several days, and if completed in time, the work may be started Monday, Cox said.

The suggestion was made by W. O. Bacon, McKesson sales executive, who addressed the druggists at two meetings in the Piedmont hotel. He spoke on the subject, "Scientific Selling and Merchandising in Retail Drug Stores." Those in the meeting included drugists from the Atlanta area. It was sponsored by the Lamar Ruskin Drug Company.

Mr. Bacon said that the south had shown a quicker recovery than any other section.

Relief Administration To Aid Needy Students

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. (AP)—The federal relief administration is going to send 100,000 young men and women to college during the next four and one-half months.

Harry L. Hopkins, administrator of federal relief and the civil works, announced today that $5,000,000 to $7,000,000 was being set aside to help needy students in colleges throughout the country by means of part-time jobs, paying by $20 a month.

Not more than 10 per cent of the students of any college or university may be assisted in this way.

He said colleges eligible must be non-profit making.

FEDERAL LOANS FOR REPAIRS.

The reported plan of President Roosevelt to ask congress to set up a fund of $250,000,000 to be loaned at low interest rates and on long time for home rebuilding and home repair would not only enable
home owners to make improvements
long needed, but, it is hoped,
would bring the renewed activity to
the building trades that other steps designed for that purpose have failed to accomplish to the degree desired.

During the four years of the depression home repairs have been neglected which in normal times
would have been regarded as vitally necessary. Few home owners,
it is felt, would fail to avail themselves of the opportunity to borrow
the money to make these repairs
now if they could get the money
at low rates of interest and repay
it over a period of years. Other families, either because of new children or because their youngsters are reaching the grown-up
stage, would undoubtedly welcome
the opportunity to finance needed
additions to their homes.

It is reported that the president
is so convinced that these loans will be eagerly sought that he has already prepared plans to ask for an expansion of the proposed $250,- 000,000, and to extend the loans to include farm as well as city
homes.

The bulk of the present unemployment in the country lies in the ranks of those engaged in the building trades, construction having lagged behind all other industries in reacting to the recovery program. The $3,000,000,000 public works program was directed at relieving this situation but has failed to accomplish the full results hoped from it. The slum clearance projects, the loans to railroads and other corporations
for rebuilding their plants, and the stabilization of the dollar to encourage all business to finance expansion of structures of all kinds have equally been resorted to without bringing the building trade revival to a level with that of other industries.

Now, as a further step to the same end, federal aid is to be extended to the millions of home owners in the country whose living quarters need repairs or enlargement. Surveys have shown that every community has a comparatively large number of such dwellings—the total number being sufficient to keep building trade workers busy for many months and to bring prosperity back to the contracting-trades of the country.

NOTABLE ATTRACTIONS.

Atlantans are to have opportunity
on the next two Sunday afternoons of hearing two young American women who have gained the top
ranks in their chosen fields—
Amelia Earhart, the world's premier aviator, and Marion Talley,
whose glorious voice has charmed
audiences both in this country and abroad.

Miss Earhart, who will speak tomorrow afternoon on "Flying for Fun," has well merited her title as
the world's foremost woman flyer,
from the standpoint of both daring
and intelligent planning. She has been frequently referred to as the "female Lindbergh," because her eminence among the women flyers
is as distinct as is Colonel Lind-bergh's among the men.

Miss Earhart, who in private life
is the wife of George Palmer Putnam, New York publisher, explorer
and author, has full claim to distinguish as a writer and lecturer.
Her Atlanta address is certain to be instructive as well as entertaining.

Miss Talley's return to the concert stage after several years of retirement has been warmly welcomed
in the north and west, and Atlanta

music lovers are fortunate in being able once more to hear the exquisite voice they first heard when Miss Talley was a member of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company cast.

THE MOLLISON INCIDENT.

The arrest, detention and fining
in a Fort Lauderdale court of Mrs.
Amy Mollison, daring cross-Atlantic
aviatrix and charming Englishwoman,
is in strange contrast to the
welcome to visitors generally extended by Florida.

Mrs. Mollison may have been violating the speed laws, but the circumstances surrounding the incipient were certainly such as to have made inexcusable the lack of consideration with which she was treated. In the first place, the alleged too-rapid driving took place at 3 o'clock in the morning on a road
which is straight as an arrow and
of unusual width—the boulevard
drive between Miami and Fort Lauderdale. The fact that the officers who arrested her were not in uniform gives credence to her statement that her resistance was based on the fear that they were high-waymen.

It is difficult to understand how,
under these circumstances, any
court, especially one in a state with so few a record of hospitality as Florida, should have assessed a heavy fine on a distinguished world
figure, and ordered her kept in jail
until the money could be secured
from the city in which she was visiting.

Florida owes this brave English-
woman an apology for the indignity
to which she was subjected for what was, at most, a minor infraction of the law.

WAR ON PREDATORY ANIMALS.

There should be general support of the campaign to be launched by the state department of game and fish for the control of predatory animals, among them being the
common house cat, skunks, rats,
weasels and prowling dogs.

This campaign will be specially directed against stray cats because of the ravages they make in the ranks of birds of all kinds. The department calls attention to the fact that birds "have no greater enemies than cats, it being estimated that the average cat kills 50
birds a year and that 65 per cent
of these cats are strays."

Cats kill far more each year than do hunters because the greater part of their marauding is done during the breeding period when the young are helpless and the older birds are loath to leave them, so they frequently become the prey of prowling cats.

In discussing the extermination
of the stray cats, the department
says:

We do not want to cause pain to any animal. We ask that control methods be as humane as possible.
We are not going to advocate the use of any slow poisons or other methods that will give pain. We will furnish directions for the construction of a type of box trap that kills animals by gas. Such a trap is humane,
and is inexpensive to make and operate,
and will do much to reduce the numbers of cats now ranging the fields and living on our valuable birds.

Except as a house mouser the cat is of no value save as a pet,
and certainly there is no reason why
those which are not pets should be allowed to continue their destruction
of useful and ornamental bird life. They prey equally on the song birds and those of brilliant plumage as on the game birds, and the toll they take strikes at one of Georgia's greatest natural assets.

The appeal for public co-operation
by the state department charged with the protection of our
wild life should be warmly received.

Atholl.

The Duke of Atholl who just got into hot water for running a lottery
in England is a descendant of that Duke of Atholl Durward, door-ward,
warder of the gate who in 1387
plotted against the King of Scotland.

King Robert III was held captive
in the Blackfriars monastery, but Atholl was captured by the Earl of Angus and beheaded.
Before execution Atholl was placed in the pillory and his head encircled with a red-hot iron crown

inscribed: "The King of Traitors."
They didn't get softy in the iron old dukes, we have grown far more lenient with those people. In republican, sans-culotte
France, dukes are all the go again.
And as far as duchesses.

Beyond.

The "Pakin Man" hitherto accepted as one of modern man's most ancient ancestors, has been promoted 400,000 years up evolution's ladder
to the position of "recent grandfather."

The Pekin study of the skull of the Pekin man, found in 1927 near Pekin,
has prompted Dr. Hrdlicka, of the Smithsonian Institution, to place him
among the beetle-browed, chinless, Ne-anderthal race, which lived only 50,- 000 to 100,000 years ago.

The Pekin man was no older than the Neanderthal, then the Java man ranks as the oldest human ancestor so far.

The finding of the Pekin man's bones in earth layers dating back nearly 500,000 years was one reason for thinking he was very ancient.

Dr. Hrdlicka says, however, that this is not positive evidence that the remains are of that period, for they may have been placed in the deposits
long after the deposits themselves
were laid down.

Dr. Hrdlicka arrived at his conclusions, according to a Reuter message,
from studying casts of the skull and brain cavity of the Pekin man which were sent to the Smithsonian Institution from England.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

GUESSING IS RIGHT (WRONG)

In reviewing the progress of science
in 1933 Ramsay Sutton observed that the doctors are still guessing
about the cause of the common cold.

In scientific medicine Koch's law
is universally recognized as a rational
test of the putative cause of a disease.
Briefly the rule is that if the results
of treatment are the same for all the cases of a disease, then that disease
is caused by a single factor.

The organism should be found in the bodies of animals (or persons)
having the disease.

It should be found in that disease
and in other.

It should occur in such numbers and be distributed in such a manner as to explain the lessons of the disease.

The organism should be obtained from the diseased individual
and propagated in pure culture outside of the body.

Inoculation of a susceptible animal
with a pure culture of the organism obtained by successive propagation from the smallest portion of matter taken from the original diseased individual should produce the same disease.

It is necessary to fulfill all of these rules to be able to say that the disease is caused by a single factor.

The Pinchot people say they are sure of defeating Reed in the senatorial primary but are afraid that the Vare forces in Philadelphia will knife Pinchot in an election and give the seat to a democrat.

The Read people say they can defeat Pinchot, but would be
satisfied to avoid the fight.

Davis is holding it up. He does not want to quit one job before he has another.

The deal calls for Davis to retire from the senate to run for governor. His senate seat would go to Governor Pinchot, who has been preparing to take Senator Reed's seat. By removing Pinchot from Reed's neck, all Pennsylvania republicans would get what they want. At least that is the way the dealers have it all figured out.

The Read people say they can defeat Pinchot, but would be
satisfied to avoid the fight.

Davis is a melancholy man in the senate and wants the governorship. But he wants it as a bird in the hand.

The schemers are now trying to arrange that. They probably will not be able to give enough guarantees to satisfy Davis.

The rumors going around the country that General Johnson receives an army pension in addition to his $6,000 salary are not correct. The vets' bureau says he is not on the list either for retired officer's pay or disability allowance. He resigned from the army shortly after the war.

The chairman of a house committee was seen in a hearing the other day reading a magazine with a title something like "True Love Tales of the Wild West."

Coach Alexander Urges Pass Rule Change To Balance Game

KNIGHT, ROSEY
RESUME WORK
FOR TITLE FIGHT

Ticket Sale Brisk Despite Postponement of Bout Thursday.

By Jack Troy.

Staff Correspondent.
MIAMI, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Ticket sales for the Miami Rosebowl-Joe Knight light-heavyweight championship fight Monday night in the Madison Square Garden arena continued to increase today and Garden officials are forecasting a $40,000 gate, despite the postponement.

Knight, the southpaw challenger from Georgia, and Rosenblom resumed light training today. Both are in fine condition. They are keeping all surplus poundage down in a short program of boxing.

KNIGHT CONFIDENT.

Joe Knight and his manager, E. H. Griffith, seem very confident. Knight is unworried. He is a very unusual type of fighter. None of the fighters he has been down to sleep in the dressing room before important fights. Handlers would wake him up and he would breeze out and win, oftentimes by a knockout.

Rosenblom is not excited about anything either. He has been doing his best to rule Knight, the press "Knight" is conceded upward, who let's decision over me go to his hand," asserts Slappy Maxie, who is for any kind of night life and particularly the kind he will indulge in Monday night in the Garden ring.

The game was a great kicking duel because this Harry Kipke was a kicker himself. He was the first one to develop placing the ball on kicks, and they did say that he could spread a handkerchief on the field and hit it with a punt from 60 yards. Not every time, of course, but often enough to prove it skill and not luck, but that day Scotty Neill was kicking with him, 42 yards on 20 punts.

IT WAS THAT DAY that Benny Oosterbaan, the great Michigan end, said to Harry Kipke, as he picked himself up off the ground, "Why, Harry, these southern guys are crying and swearing and fighting as if they were crazy. If Yost has any more stadiums for us to dedicate I hope the next one is in Greenland."

What they did not know was that Your Uncle Dan McGugin had steamed the boys up about how the Michiganders were nothing but a lot of damn Yankees come down south to burn the crops or something like that. The fact that Dan McGugin is from Iowa does not prevent him from making a very fine southern speech. In fact, it is my opinion after years of observing that the Yankee coaches who come south to coach make the very finest southern speeches of all before their inter-sectional games and become very indignant indeed about the Civil War.

By Ralph McElvee

ALBANY, Ga., Feb. 2.—I wish the patients of Dr. Frank Neill, whom I called on today to obtain a couple of pills, could have seen the lad when he was kicking that football around for Your Uncle McGugin at Vanderbilt.

ESPECIALLY IN 1922 AGAINST THE MICHIGAN TEAM when he kicked that football 20 times for an average of 42 yards. And more especially than in the Georgia game of that year, when he punted 16 times for an average of 47 yards. That was kicking.

I expect it is the best kicking the south ever saw because 47 yards is quite an average and the average stayed up there despite the fact that one of those punts was a mere 13 yards. The way I recall it, a referee had penalized "Scotty" Neill five yards for talking to him and he was wishing he could kick the referee and almost forgot to kick the football, getting it just 13 yards down, but when anyone kicks a football 16 times for an average of 47 yards he has done some kicking.

NEIL, NEILL, NEILLY, the Michigan game of 1922 was the one wherein Vanderbilt tied the Wolverines 0-0 and they would not have tied them had it not been for Scotty Neill's toe. Time after time he kicked the ball out of danger and the Vanderbilt ends, Jesse Neely, now coach at Clemson, and Lynn Bonner, would be down there to nail Harry Kipke, of Michigan, right in his tracks.

The game was a great kicking duel because this Harry Kipke was a kicker himself. He was the first one to develop placing the ball on kicks, and they did say that he could spread a handkerchief on the field and hit it with a punt from 60 yards. Not every time, of course, but often enough to prove it skill and not luck, but that day Scotty Neill was kicking with him, 42 yards on 20 punts.

THERE WAS A PICTURE ON THE WALL.

There was a picture on the wall in Scotty Neill's office of the 1919 Vanderbilt team, and how that started the memories to go. There was Joshua Cody, now one of Dan McGugin's aides at Nashville; Tom Lipscomb, the other tackle and now a successful lawyer at Cleveland, Ohio; Frank Berryhill, who was a great little halfback and is now practicing medicine somewhere in Tennessee; Swaine Latham, the quarterback; Tommy Terfoss, a very fine end; Alf Davis, another fine one, and so on. And there was one smallish looking young man standing there with a very serious look on his face. He was identified as none other than your old partner here, a sterling line substitute of that year.

IT WAS A VERY FINE FOOTBALL TEAM, THE TEAM OF 1919. But it took a very fine shellacking at the hands of Georgia Tech.

It was that day on Grant field that Buck Flowers broke away for three gallops of about 40 yards each and each one good for a touchdown, so that Georgia Tech won, 20 to 0. Well, well, the years do get on, and will you pardon the old fellow and his memories?

SINGLENESS OF PURPOSE.

The singleness of purpose which a trained bird dog possesses, plus their keen liking for the sport, continues to amaze after long years of looking at dogs and trials. The dogs actually like to hunt. They always want to go, and they want to do just one thing, hunt birds.

AT LUNCH TIME TODAY I WENT WITH HOLLIS LANIER, on whose plantation lands lie a part of the field trial course, to see his two hunting dogs, a young pointer and a veteran setter. They spied us while the car was far down the road in the pines and they became all attention. When they saw us dressed in hunting clothes they went wild with rapture at the thought, and when we didn't take them, but distributed only a few pats on the head, they whined dolefully.

The intense singleness of purpose is really amazing. The dogs in the trials know they are in some unusual competition. Some of them, of course, have been to so many trials they know just what to expect, but even the puppies and young derby dogs in their first trials know something is up.

THE TEST OF COMPETITION.

The test of competition is to be found in dogs, in dog trials as well as in football and baseball games. Some dogs fail in competition who are faultless handlers of birds in ordinary hunts. One handler in the all-age stake was discussing his dog this morning.

"He has handled birds faultlessly for 10 months," he said. "I have worked him and trained him for this trial. His range and bird work was great, and yet in the trial yesterday when he got in competition he handled birds poorly, almost as if he were a novice."

The real winners are beautiful to see. Air Circus, for instance, the pointer which won the all-age stake, hunted with unusual intelligence and application, hunting out every yard of his territory and passing up no opportunities, and his handling of birds was really marvelous. Miss Claudia Phelps, his owner and handler, flushed the birds, fired a shot and then mounted her horse. She then blew her whistle, and then, and not until then, did the dog break his point. It was extraordinary work.

"Bingo" Brown Says Loafing Pugilists Put Game "On Skids."

DETROIT, Feb. 2.—(P)—The fight game, says James M. (Bingo) Brown, former president of the National Boxing Association, "is on the skids" and the leather pushers "themselves are responsible."

Brown, dean of men at Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti, in an interview today, emphatically declared that "too many hand-picked opponents and too much shadow boxing in the gym instead of road work" is keeping the sport from regaining its place in the sun.

"Max Baer could be the greatest fighter in the heavyweight division if he wanted to be," said Brown, adding that "Dempsey was right the other day when he said fighters don't train. There's too much shadow boxing and bag punching in the gym instead of road work. A man in any shape is just as good as his legs."

PRESENT CROP.

What did he think of the present crop? Well—Schmeling—finely conditioned and still good; Sharkey; Levensky and Loughran—all through; Joe Knight—good prospect; Teddy Yaros—of the best prospects who seem to have the right combination of personality and ring color; Ross—the greatest champion today and one willing to fight; Canzoneri—going down hill; Lou Amber—has a future; Maurer—a fighter who likes to start punching from the bell; Freddy Miller—a credit to the sport; Fred Merkle—nothing to say.

He commended N. B. A. for breaking away from the International Boxing Union, stating that foreign fighters of merit will "find their way over here."

What did he think of wrestling? "Well—it's a good show, isn't it?"

L. S. U. Grid Star Sued for Divorce

PORT ARTHUR, Texas, Feb. 2.—(P)—Sidney Bowman, former Louisiana State University and Olympic star, was a better athlete than he was a husband, Martha Ferguson Bowman said in obtaining a divorce decree today.

They were married in 1932. The divorce was not contested. Judge J. D. Campbell, awarded custody of the couple's four months' old son to Mrs. Bowman.

Miss Phelps' Dogs Win First and Second in All-Age Stake

DR. MYSHRALL'S
POINTER TAKES
FIRST IN DERBY

(Copyright, 1934, for The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

Miss Phelps' Iodine Dixie Baby Second in Derby Race.

By Ralph McGill.

ALBANY, Ga., Feb. 2.—Pointers literally swept the field today in the running of the all-age and the derby stakes in the southern amateur field trials, winning all six places in the two events. It looks very much like a pointer's trial.

Atlanta scored one victory in the Derby, when Dr. George Myshrall's orange and white pointer, Watson's Diana, placed first in the Derby. It was a brilliant victory, won in a second series with Miss Claudia Phelps' pointer, Iodine Dixie Baby. Miss Phelps is a widely known sportswoman, from Aiken, S. C.

Watson's Diana found two coves, running a dazzling race, applying herself well and handing the birds in good style. She was handled by Roy Persons, of Monticello. The second series was for more than an hour's duration. Boyce Williams' pointer, Mad Anthony's Joe, was third in the Derby.

Iodine Dixie Baby placed in the Pinchurst trials a few weeks ago.

MISS PHELPS' SCORES.

While the Atlanta representatives were Miss Claudia Phelps and her pointer, Iodine Dixie Baby, Miss Phelps was the most impressive triumphs of the day.

Her pointers, Air Circus and Jake's Carolina Boy, took first and second place in the all-age stake this morning. Third place was won by Phister Phelps' Jordan, owned by V. E. Douglas, of Orlando, Fla.

Added to this amazing victory this afternoon, her pointer, Iodine Dixie Baby, placed second. She handled all three dogs.

The Myshrall dog and Iodine Baby had a second series which was a bit slower than the regular. In 20 minutes of trials they found and handled six coves of birds.

Watson's Diana is by Jake's Stylish Doctor, 'out of Snelling's Pride Maid. The blood runs back to the Proctor strain. And the victory means much of the day's hard contestants that will tell. Finding six coves of birds in 30 minutes and handling them means that they were handling a covey every five minutes.

TRUE TO FORM.

It was stated yesterday, story by Old Dog Man, in this corner, that the two Phelps dogs, Air Circus and Jake's Carolina Boy, looked like winners in the all-age, and it is blood that tells again. Air Circus is by Air Pilot out of Ferris Lady. Watson's Diana, saw Ferris Jake win at Wrentham in the last Georgia trial in 1929.

Now, Air Pilot is by Muscles Shools Jake and Jake was by Ferris Jake and Ferris Jake was by John Proctor, and John Proctor was by Fisher Frank and there you are back in some of the best blood line in the field once more.

Air Circus was superior to Jake's Carolina Boy in range and application and also in handling the birds, although both handled birds well. Air Circus is the most out of her territory, and Jake's Carolina Boy is by Muscle Shools Jake.

Both dogs placed in the Pinehurst Pointer Club trials a few weeks ago. The third-place dog showed well, but the two Phelps dogs were superior.

PUPPY STAKE.

The puppy stake was started this afternoon, two braces being run. This stake will not be completed before late Saturday afternoon.

The gallery was a large one today and the weather was perfect, warm and yet still holding enough of the sun to make the day comfortable for riding.

It was the Derby stake which provided the most dog work.

Watson's Diana, in field-trial performance, stepped high, wide and hand-some.

Which is all a dog is expected to do. A derby dog is one wholed on January 1 of the year. This means it is but little past the puppy class, and derby dogs are not expected to handle birds with the skill of an all-age dog.

But Watson's Diana worked like a veteran. She was excellent in her bird work. She was consistent and

ATLANTA FIVES PLAY AT TUCKER

TUCKER, Ga., Feb. 2.—Five Atlanta teams, along with four others, will participate in the fifth district competition here Friday.

The tournament committee is composed of W. C. Mundy and R. N. Sled of Tucker; O. C. Dent and James Taylor.

The pairings:

Group B.

Druid Hills vs. Stone Mountain. Chamblee vs. North Fulton. U. S. B. vs. Marietta. Avondale vs. Conyers. Decatur, bye.

Group C.

Southwest DeKalb vs. Tucker. Clarkston vs. Lithonia.

had well all the way. Her application was perfect.

By application is meant the manner in which the dog applies itself to the territory. In other words, if the range offered good bird territory to the right and left and another section straight ahead, the better dog would apply himself systematically, taking the bird territory in turn. Often they do not.

LIKE A VETERAN.

Watson's Diana ran like a veteran and handled her birds well. She will be campaigned the remainder of the season.

Charley Jordan, of Monticello, and Lock Simons, of Alpharetta, S. C., did an excellent job of judging.

Judging is a thankless task, but the Southern Amateur Club has two good ones in Jordan and Simons.

The victory of the pointers today was most disappointing to the settemen present. It is unusual, despite the fact that pointers have been dominant in some years, for the pointers completely to shut out the setters as they did today.

The decline of the setter is the reason of the razing arguments of the bird dog game. There are many explanations for it. But the fact remains that pointers are winning in most of the cases.

EDNS. TODAY.

The puppy stake will be completed tomorrow. On Monday the All-American trials, which are really the national amateur championship, will begin. On the following Monday the continental, an open event, will begin in the same grounds.

The trials, the third by the Southern Amateur Club, have been most successful.

TALES OF A WAYSIDE TEE.

The Time Killers.

One of the most important phases of golf, affecting the play and the pursuit of happiness of several million golfers, has been badly overlooked.

This phase has nothing to do with the golf swing. It has little to do with the rules of the game.

But it has a lot to do with the matters of courtesy and pleasure, and you might add, sportsmanship.

This is the growing tendency of golfers to take more and more time to play a round of golf, to hold up other matches, to fiddle and fuss around without regard to any others on the course.

This outbreak is not aimed at the dubs or duffers alone.

I will give you an illustration from the recent amateur championship played at Cincinnati.

I waited to get the score of one of the best golfers in the field that qualified. I waited a long time.

"How long?" I asked him, a former Walker cup star. "Did it take you to play that hole?"

"Four hours and ten minutes," he replied. "We had to be careful."

I asked Rudy Knepper a little while ago what he thought of a certain match in the women's championship.

"I followed this only nine holes," he said. "I think that was all could be done. It took them two hours and fifteen minutes to play the first nine holes. It was an engineering proposition, not a golf match. They would walk from the ball to the pin, 50 yards apart, to study every roll and break—which meant nothing."

Throughout play was fast and a near-capacity crowd was kept at a high pitch of excitement.

George led during the first few minutes of play, but between the two halves he exchanged eight times, Florida moving out in front on five different occasions.

Frank Johnson, of Georgia, with 20 points, led the rival clubs in scoring. He was followed by Hal Gibson, of Georgia, and George Smathers, of Florida, each with 9 points.

SCRIMMAGE SET FOR BIRDS TODAY

Oglethorpe's "new deal" in football will be demonstrated at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Hermance field when the first of a series of scrimmages begins.

Couch John Patrick and his aides have been working along smoothly for several weeks in the fundamentals of the game and this afternoon the results of their efforts will be displayed on the field.

And along with the new deal in football strategy will be a new deal in play for the present generation of Petrel students.

They are gradually building up tension and the same, they are also wrecking their own game.

VANDY BEATEN

BY KENTUCKY

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Thwarting Vanderbilt's attempt to halt their victory parade, University of Kentucky's Wildcats tonight handed the Commodores the unhappy end of a 48-28 score.

Unbeaten this season and victorious last night over the dangerous Alabama Crimson Tide, the Kentuckians found little about which to worry in Coach Josh Cody's sophomores.

The Greenies displayed better teamwork to pile up a 16-to-11 advantage at the half and were never in danger from that point in spite of a desperate struggle on the part of the Tigers.

Ernie Beck, Tulane forward, carried off the honors with 14 points by scoring five field goals from a field and a foul throw for 11 points.

Warren McMahan, of Auburn and Claude Simons, of Tulane, both guards, divided second honors with eight points each.

TONY CANZONERI
Beats Locatelli

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri, former lightweight champion, won a 12-round decision over Cleto Locatelli, European titleholder.

Locatelli twice had been floored and had a tidy pasting in all three rounds.

The sixth preliminary duckpin sweepstakes, prefatory to the John Black stake, was held at 10 o'clock tonight. The event is open to all bowlers in the city, all bowling from scratch.

The Gulf Refining Company team continued its march upward in the team standings of the Merchants Duckpin League Friday evening as they were credited with three games from the Dawson-Paxon Company.

Chandler, lead man for the team, paced his squad with games of 105, 105, 126 for a big 336 set. Bill Reid had games of 113, 94, 130 to contribute his part to the victory.

New Screen Offerings Reviewed At Fox, Loew's Grand, Paramount

By RALPH T. JONES.
Of the three new pictures which premiered in Atlanta Friday, there isn't one that hasn't something in it that appeals. Of course all of us will pick and choose and name what we think best of the three and it is altogether probable that my selection won't agree with yours. But what's the odds, difference of opinion is the life blood of conversation, written or oral. And I love conversation.

So, placing them in the order of my own preference, with brief statement of the reasons therefore, here they are:

Paramount. "Convention City."

Liked it because it criticizes a subject that has been begging for such treatment—the annual conventions of the business concerns that take themselves so darn seriously.

Liked it because of its at times rough and ready humor and for the cleverness of some of the conversationalists.

Fox. "All of Me." Liked it because its theme is a subject of intense interest. The dishonesty that fear of life breeds.

Liked it because it illustrates that soft living is apt to create soft thinking and that real-

ties are the stones that sharpen character.

Loew's Grand. "Roman Scandals." Liked it despite Eddie Cantor, one of whose admirers I am not. Liked it because of the marvelous stage settings, the gorgeous girls, the touch of barbaric ruthlessness and the setting in ancient Rome, not, probably, as to it imagined it.

Miriam Hopkins, Fredric March, George Raft and Helen Mack are four players for anyone's delight. And none of the four was ever better.

The character depicted by Miriam Hopkins is a difficult portrayal, that of a girl of sheltered wealth who is offered genuine love with comparative poverty and hardship.

At first, men thought the loves the man—Fredric March—she lies to escape the consequences of that love.

It is only after she has watched a couple in a far different caste go through the most frightening ordeals of modern life can she sustain by her love of them, and the surprised faith in each other that the girl sees her fault, and at the close of the story, renounces the easy way out of her own difficulty for the sake of honest truth and the good of her soul. To say nothing of the love and happiness that follows.

It was a picture hard to adequately describe, but one you'll enjoy immensely if you take reasonable intelligence to the theater with you.

Jimmy Durante's rendition of "William Tell" overture, with the aid of the screen, is quite a musical novelty.

But the subject fans will find a new Popeye cartoon and Borah Menivitch's Harmonica Rascals for their entertainment.

At Loew's Grand.

Samuel Goldwyn is noted for his powers of selection in re feminine beauty. He has fully upheld his reputation in "Roman Scandals."

Never has the screen presented so many lovely blondes so effectively.

Of course, the slave market in ancient Rome and the Roman ladies' baths are ideal locations for such presentation.

That row of chained blondes in the main place and that equally attractive blondes swimming in the baths, with their Moorish handmaids for color contrast, just about

put me in a state of mind to do some serious thinking.

And don't forget that the Atlanta troupe's new burlesque, with Snoopy Woods and all, at midnight Sunday night.

Nor that the Capitol has a new stage and screen offering, "Eight Girls in a Boat" on screen, and a snappy

comedy revue on stage, beginning Monday.

At the Fox.

"All of Me" at the Fox is a picture for thoughtful patrons. While Eddie Cantor is an unlucky grocer's delivery boy. The "big shot" of the town finally has Eddie shown beyond the city limits by the constabulary. There, beside the highway, he sleeps and dreams of being used in ancient Rome. He finds himself acting as a slave, with no bidder. I can feel a touch of understanding between those old Romans and myself. Later he becomes official food taster for Caesar, a job that is complicated by the fact that the wife of the emperor is trying desperately to poison her spouse.

Not such a terrific plot but made into highly pleasurable entertainment by the presence of Ruth Etting, who makes a lovely and melodious heroine, and the aforementioned blondes.

Extra attractions at the Grand include an MGM cartoon, screen snapshots and the Metrotoneons.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 2.—(AP)—An effort will be made to increase the wholesale returns from Georgia oyster beds from $100,000 to $1,000,000, it was said here by G. C. Adams, commissioner of agriculture.

Commissioner Adams made an inspection of oyster beds in the vicinity of Brunswick and this section. He announced yesterday that he has recommended to Washington that three oysters be given to the CWA funds to make survey and inaugurate improved production methods.

Replanting of oyster beds and proper care of them would bring about the desired result, the commissioner said.

Mr. Adams said Georgia oysters are more tasty and have four times the medicinal value that oysters from northern beds have. Chesapeake oysters have won a reputation, he said, because years of scientific production have brought about a large and beautiful oyster in that section.

The picture contains so many situations that it is hard to attempt to mention most of them. But you'll love the fellow who moves that the firm put their product in slot machines and the touch about the sanctimonious president who goes to call on the lady "insect exterminator."

To say nothing of the bootlegger who wants to buy him off. "Tell"! Or if you prefer, the Scotch Joan Blondell gives a clever performance as the gold-digger and Guy Kibbee is, as always, brilliant. His toupee is fascinating. You'll find Menjou and Mary Astor delightful in their roles and Frank McHugh is the handsomest son in the world.

But your salutation, if you are in the habit of attending annual conventions, perhaps you'd better not take the little woman to this picture. It might put ideas in her head.

Wilma P. Hindman's Water Colors And Crayons Exhibited at Museum

The most important exhibition for garden club members and those interested in flowers is that of water colors and crayon drawings by Wilma P. Hindman of Miami, Tenn., who is well known in Atlanta through her lecture to the Planters' Garden Club last spring. The exhibition is current at the High Museum of Art, and will continue through February 15.

This exhibition has been carefully planned at this season and not only is a visit to the museum worthwhile to see this exceptionally strong work, but Mrs. Hindman's knowledge of composition and color will add new interest to many flower lovers.

Particularly strong are her compositions incorporating progressive ideas in pattern. The arrangement makes one feel that Mrs. Hindman has been greatly influenced by the Japanese masters of composition. There are 40 studies in the collection and every one is worthy of careful study.

Gallery talks will be given throughout Sunday afternoon, the galleries to be opened from 2 until 5 o'clock.

There is no admission charge. The High Museum is open daily from 9 to 5 o'clock and on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, from 7 to 9 o'clock.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

Saves Good Money! No Cooking!

If you want the best cough remedy that money can buy, mix it at home. It costs very little, yet it's the most reliable, quick-acting medicine ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn, coughing, giving immediate relief.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. To make syrup, use 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, and boil for a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money—a real family supply. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

Is surprising how quickly this lotion, the genuine Pinex, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, clears the air passages, and thus ends a severe cough in a hurry.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief and money refunded.

FINAL INSTALLMENT.

There was a glaze on those widely-popped cuttlefish eyes of his. I let the body slide down and lie flat and I stood above it, sucking in the air with great gulps until my lungs quit pumping.

It might interest some to know what mainly I was thinking while I was getting my breath back. With a sort of vague regret I mainly was thinking that now I never would know what the secret hyphenating band between Uncas Creasap and Manuel Sabino had been—what it was that had yoked them together through all those years and at the last had condemned them together to die by the same hand.

But a more pressing concern overlapped that one. Here was a problem unforeseen, unprovided for. Here was a corpus delecti—and Bray, or any seasoned criminologist will tell you that while it sometimes is almost ridiculously easy to kill, to get rid of the leavings is infinitely more difficult, that before now many and many a killer has, so to speak, stumbled over those two Latin words and landed in the outstretched arms of the law.

So I stood and pondered on my newest problem: Where, lacking a medical certificate, lacking a burial permit, lacking a coroner's "wise," might one dispose of a dead man's body and rest in security thereafter? Not in some odd corner of ground, not in the obscure thicket. Fresh clouds tell tales, strangers happen by, casual picks have a nasty way of probing into secret sepulchres, dead bones rise up and murder outs and there you are! Where was the safe place? For it must be somewhere.

I shall drink one highball in a toast to Florence's happiness through all the days of her life. No, being a southerner born, I'll make it a Bour-bon today.

I've drunk it down, no heel-taps, thinking of her. I've still been thinking of her as I tested the mechanism of my battered old service revolver—the one I carried through the Spanish-American War. Foolish, footless Peggy her grace wasn't it, gave me Peggy her grace with this pistol.

Curious that I can think so tenderly of Florence even while I finger this pistol! I can see her, bless her heart, making any sacrifice she can make in the hope of rehabilitating the reputation of a man who has no further need for reputation, good, bad or indifferent.

Until now, when it's almost too late to insert it in the tale, I've neglected to mention that I was always ambidextrous.

So, with my left hand, which is perfectly steady, I raise the gun up and with my right I take pen in hand to write for Gilbert J. Redd, "The Sands of His Life."

Money to Burn...and He Burned It!
A Heart to Break...and It Was Broken!

You'll find the most satisfying reading of the year in the story of Charity Jones—a poor girl who became rich and found it didn't pay.

She had everything money could buy and nothing it couldn't. What every woman knows she had to learn. In the Dance of Life she was a wall-flower.

But Charity learned—and what she learned may teach you a few new things. Don't miss

Culbertsonon Contract*21-Cent Gas Tax Brings*Taxi Strike in Paris*PARIS, Feb. 2.—(AP)—The walk- ing was good in Paris today. It had to be done.

The city was practically "taxi-
less" as a result of a drivers' strike against a recent 12 1/2-cent hike in the government gasoline tax.

Only a few privately-owned cabs
were in operation.

A gallon of gasoline now costs 40
cents, of which 21 cents goes for taxes.

Miscellaneous.

J. H. Vicas, of Boisbriant, Manitoba, Canada, writes that when the hand was dealt in the course of a rubber game he, seated North, felt that the 1,000-point deficit
in his hand and his partner score could easily be closed when the partner opened the bidding with a call of one diamond. In fact, inasmuch as North and South were vulnerable, he thought they might not only eliminate
the minus score but accumulate enough points on the plus side to give him a lead. Strangely enough, as he recounts, the old law, "To him that hath shall be given," stepped in, and after West opened the heart 5, on which the Ten was finessed and lost to the King, the Ace of diamonds was dropped from the North hand, and subsequently partner went down 2
tricks, adding, of course, to the deficit
rather than replacing it with a surplus.
